

LESSON 20 (Twentieth)

You and I

There are two close friends, Letter "I" and Letter "U". One day, they are arguing about who is more important in life.

Letter "I" says,

How can you "SM_LE" without "I"?

Letter U says,

Yes, you are right. But how can you achieve "S_CCESS" without "U"?

Letter "I" nods and says again,

How can you be "F_NE" Without "I"?

Letter U thinks for a while and goes on,

How can you "_NIFY" the country without "U"?

Letter "I" jumps in,

How can you "W_SH" Without "I"?

How can you "LA_GH" without 'U'?

The 2 letters are arguing with each other, one by one.

How can you be "N_CE" without "I"?

How can you have "F_N" without "U"?

How can you make a "FR_END" without "I" ?

How can you enjoy the "S_NSHINE" without "U"?

There seems to be no end of the argument between "U" and "I".

In the end, "U" and "I" burst out,

U and I are the same important in our life,

U and I means "友爱" in Chinese.

The longest English word "smiles".

Practice:

1. Besides “smile”, list other words which are similar in meaning to “smile”.
2. Do you often make smiling face?
3. To whom do you often make smiling face?
4. Do you have anything successful to share with us?
5. What is your successful story?
6. Do you have any fun during the pandemic?
7. What is the activity that makes you happy?
8. Do you laugh at others?